

ReLEAD learning journey – step by step

Step 1: Enrollment

Your organisation confirms your participation in the ReLEAD programme and shares participant details with the ReLEAD team. This marks the official start of your learning journey.

Step 2: Account creation

Create your profile on relead.org and access the online learning platform.

Step 3: Baseline assessment and topic selection

Complete a short self-assessment to reflect on your current skills and choose the topic area that interests you most.

Step 4: Live online onboarding (45 minutes)

Connect with the team behind ReLEAD (THE CIVICS Innovation Hub) and other participants of the programme:

- Explore the structure and goals of the programme
- Understand key milestones and expectations
- Learn how to navigate the platform

Step 5: Self-paced learning

Build your skills through:

- Core module: Civic skills
- One thematic track:
 - Communication
 - Resilience and wellbeing
 - Environmental sustainability and social impact

Step 6: Transnational group workshops (online)

Join two live international sessions to collaborate, exchange ideas, and apply what you have learned.

Step 7: Develop your ReLEAD Initiative

Start shaping your own civic or social action project from the very beginning and submit your idea canvas at the end.

Step 8: Implement your ReLEAD Initiative (optional)

You are encouraged to put your ReLEAD Initiative into practice. Implementing your project allows you to deepen your learning, strengthen your organisational or community impact, and further develop your confidence and capacity for civic engagement.

While implementation is not required for certification, it is highly encouraged. Participants who choose to implement their initiative will receive guidance and support throughout the process. This step transforms your ideas into real-world action and reinforces the practical dimension of the ReLEAD journey, making it eligible to become a ReLEAD Impact Spot on our CIVICS NETWORK MAP.

Step 9: Completion and certification

You will successfully complete the ReLEAD programme once you have:

- Completed the two self-paced learning units
- Participated in the two transnational live group workshops
- Submitted a concept design for your offline initiative

Upon fulfilling these requirements, you will receive your official ReLEAD certificate and an Open Badge, recognising your commitment and learning achievements.
